

What Can An

ITNS Membership Do For Me... as a Transplant Nursing Administrator?

Provide High Quality Educational Opportunities

- Annual ITNS International Symposium
- Nursing workshops in conjunction with other transplant-focused conferences in North America and internationally
- Intensive, hands-on workshops with a specific focus such as health literacy or chronic illness issues
- Local and regional meetings at little to no cost
- Continuing education credits (CEPTCs and CEUs) provided for attendance at ITNS workshops and conferences for myself and my staff
- Weekly ITNS Insider Newsletter
- Monthly electronic updates regarding ITNS news and upcoming events

Provide Opportunities for Personal and Professional Growth

- Review course for the Certified Clinical Transplant Nurse (CCTN) and the Certified Clinical Transplant Coordinator (CCTC) credentialing examinations
- Local chapter participation
- Leadership opportunities available both locally and internationally
- Abstracts for poster or oral presentations encouraged for Annual Symposium with the assistance of “How To” tools and a Research Committee
- Special Interest Groups (SIGs) including Chapter Leaders SIG, Research SIG, Heart/Lung SIG, Kidney/Pancreas SIG, Liver/Intestine SIG, Composite SIG
- Participation in the review process for abstracts submitted for the Annual ITNS Symposium
- Opportunity for nomination and election to a position on the ITNS Board of Directors

- Encourage professional staff development by providing opportunities to advance up the clinical ladder, present at conferences, and broaden knowledge base through international networking

Provide Networking Opportunities with Other Transplant Professionals

- Access to an international membership of nearly 2000 transplant professionals
- Share best practice with other managers and administrators
- Opportunity to stay abreast on issues facing other transplant centers
- Access to online ITNS Membership Directory
- Opportunity to arrange staff communication with staff from other transplant centers
- Scheduled symposium and workshop networking opportunities
- Opportunity for communication among members of various SIGs and committees through listserv groups

Provide Patient Education Tools, Information and References

- Access to patient education brochures on important topics such as pregnancy after transplant, post-transplant diabetes, GI side effects, in multiple languages, including English, Spanish and French and some topics are also available in German and Portuguese
- Availability of patient manual for heart, liver and kidney transplant which are downloadable from the ITNS website
- Opportunities to participate in writing or reviewing patient education materials through the Education Committee
